Creating search strategies to find information in ECU Worldsearch & the CINAHL Database

Searching ECU Worldsearch and Databases

Module 4 of the Academic Skills in Nursing and Midwifery Library Guide
A reminder about searching concepts – Connectors

• Use AND between concepts
  – Cystic fibrosis AND psychosocial - finds results that include both of these terms

• Use OR between synonyms/alternate terms
  – Cystic fibrosis OR fibrocystic disease of the pancreas
  – finds results that include either of these terms

For a list of the common smart search strategy tips go to the Nursing Library Guide under the Getting started tab

Some examples of search strategies

Try a search with inter-professional collaboration and compare this with the results when you search interprofessional collaboration. Add nurse* to narrow the search.

Some examples of search strategies

Here are some more possible search combinations. Remember to limit the search to the last five years. You can also add the limit of ‘Academic Journals’ under Source Types.

But this is just a starter.
Scan and skim results

Read the Title of the search result then read the abstract – is the journal article potentially relevant

If potentially relevant then save into the folder
Scan and skim results

Then read in more detail the search results to make a final selection

Critical evaluation of Websites

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Currency</th>
<th>When was the page last updated? When was it written? How current are the references (if any)?</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Relevance</td>
<td>How well does it address the topic? Is it scholarly? Does it address your needs?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Authority</td>
<td>Is the source of the information credible? Who wrote it? Who hosts/publishes the page? Who recommended it?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Accuracy</td>
<td>Does the information appear logical? Are there significant typos or spelling errors? Are the links working? What research methods have been used? Are there references?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Purpose &amp; Bias</td>
<td>Does the author have a hidden agenda? Is their intent to sell something? Is it all a hoax? What is the motivation behind the page?</td>
