LAUNCH OF A NEW SERIES OF THE QUEENSLAND REPORTS

The Queensland Council of Law Reporting (ICLRQ) is delighted to announce that, at the end of March 2020, a new series of the Queensland Reports will commence.

The new series is being introduced to improve the typography of the Queensland Reports, by moving to a style which is clearer and more readable.

This new style has been developed through a careful study of a wide range of typographical options, in consultation with the courts and the legal profession. The ICLRQ is particularly grateful to our former editors, Justice Roger Derrington and Justice Sarah Derrington of the Federal Court of Australia, for initiating the work on this project.

The new series will continue to be known as the Queensland Reports, but will be published as a set of consecutively numbered volumes – with three volumes published each year.

A new form of citation will also be adopted for this series, using round brackets to identify the year of the judgment and a simpler abbreviation for the series - “QR” rather than “Qd R”. So judgments in the new series will be cited in the form: (2020) 1 QR 123.

As with all authorised law reports of the Supreme Court of Queensland, a complete set of this new series will be available online, free of charge, to registered users of the Queensland Judgments website (www.queenslandjudgments.com.au).

John McKenna QC,
Chairman.
19 March 2020